

A Study Day for nurses, audiologists and other healthcare practitioners who wish to incorporate microsuction into their ear care clinics

PHILOSOPHY

Practitioners with comprehensive experience in ear care may wish to extend the service they provide to their patients, to include microsuction

This Study Day is designed to ensure that those who choose to provide microsuction are able to do so confidently and safely

The course provides knowledge and practical guidance, which should enable practitioners to fulfil this extended role

THE COURSE

This is one of the very few microsuction courses for ears in the UK and is backed by a comprehensive protocol and taught by practitioners with extensive, ongoing experience

The programme includes practical and taught sessions

It will be taught in small numbers, for the benefit of participants, in a nurse-led environment

All delegates should have comprehensive experience of ear care

Suitable For:

Registered nurses
Audiologists
Suitably qualified health professionals
